Mission Mongolia: Two Men, One Van, No Turning Back

Synopsis

The story of an epic road trip in an old van... David and Geoff were two BBC journalists who took voluntary redundancy as their mid-fifties approached. Deciding there had to be more to life than golf or gardening, they set off on an 8,000 mile drive for charity to the Mongolian capital, Ulaanbaatar. Their trip takes them across Ukraine, Russia, Kazakhstan and Mongolia. Lying in wait are corrupt cops, bent border guards, mountain tracks and the Gobi desert - but there are also welcoming and curious locals keen to help the two men on their mission and keep them supplied with beer.

Customer Reviews

Clear, unpretentious writing... a pacy and clear narrative that gives you a taste of the reality of epic drives. Travelmag, 14th September 2010 Humorous, descriptive, thought provoking and above all, enjoyable. Mission Mongolia comes highly recommended. Adventurebimbling, 21st July 2010 The concept is enthralling. The fact that they battled corrupt border officials, dangerously eroded roads and the elements, is incredible. St Christopher's Inns, September 2010 Treanor neatly weaves in history, geography and ecology without letting the pace drop. Luxique Travel, 4th August 2010 "Nicely humorous." David Treanor was a BBC journalist for more than 25 years.

Fascinating premise, but too much introductory/background material. I just wanted to hear about the trip, not the tribulations of finding a van, etc.
