Chloe Perkins is the editor and author of a few dozen books for children. She lives in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, with her husband, Rico, and their corgi puppy/sometimes shark, Marius. Growing up in a small town in Ohio, Chloe always dreamed of writing stories that could take kids on their own reading adventures, and she's thrilled to be doing just that! Tom Woolley is an illustrator who works on children's books and colorful maps. He lives in the historic City of Bradford in West Yorkshire in the United Kingdom. When not busy illustrating, Tom likes to ride his bike and loves to travel and explore new places.

Series book that will be hard to use in diverse classrooms. It does have a lot of information but comes nowhere near describing the diversity of China itself, of Chinese heritage students living in the USA. But if a teacher has only book about China, it is better than nothing. I am using it as an example in a course on child and adolescent literature of why we need to search for more and better books about children's ethnic and cultural backgrounds.

Yes, this worked perfectly for facts about China for my struggling readers.

love the series great for all ages

I'm so thrilled to find this series for my daughter! She loves learning about other cultures, and all the other books I found were for older kids. She just started second grade, and this looks perfect. A big thank you to the writer, illustrator, and publisher of these titles.

Bought this for my elementary school students, many of whom are Chinese-speaking but have never been to or don't remember China. They love learning about the country and it helped a lot of them feel more connected to a place they've only heard about.
