Now including a new and improved index! "A unique cookbook for all campers." Library Journal "Some of [the recipes] are a little wacky, but that's half the fun! The recipes are about good food." The News and Observer (Raleigh, NC) "You will love these great outdoor cooking recipes, and so will any other camping fan.... Plenty of recipes for every outdoor cooking situation.

--USAFundraising.comÃ Ã Reviews for Lipsmackin' Backpackin':Ã Ã "Dutch oven, campfire, camp stove and box oven recipes are just some of the many that can be found in this cookbook."Ã Ã Ã Ã Scouting LifeÃ Ã Ã Ã "Authors and avid hikers Christine and Tim Conners have collected and compiled recipes and tips from Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Scouting leaders all across the country representing the best in campout cooking for troops large and small.Ã Ã Each tasty recipe is accompanied by easy-to-read information about cooking method, basic essentials, and instructions.Ã Ã Everyone can enjoy healthy eating balanced by a little bit of indulgence . . ."Ã Ã Scouting magazineÃ Ã

On my honor, I will do my best . . . to prepare great camp food. Campout cooking is about providing sustenance, teaching thoughtfulness and cooperation, and being grateful—not to mention healthy eating balanced by a little bit of indulgence. This collection of recipes and tips from scouts and scout leaders representing nearly every state in the Union celebrates the best in campout cooking. Whether you're hungering for a Ravenous Scout Leader's Steak Au Gratin, Fire Starter Cider, Jeepers Creepers Dirt Parfait, or anything in between, you'll find hundreds of camp-friendly options. Each recipe has been personally tested and approved by the authors and is accompanied by at-a-glance information about cooking method, challenge level, and servings. The Scout's Outdoor Cookbook has you covered, whether you need an introduction to the basic essentials, instructions on cooking in cast iron or cardboard box oven, or a real cookout challenge.

Make sure you bring ALL of your friends, or an entire boy scout troop! I halved the recipe for lasagna, still was going to be big for the 2 of us, (whole recipe says feeds 12,) and even though we are "big boned" folks... we still ate it for DAYS! I think I could have fed half the campground with the full sized recipe!!!Impressed the neighbors though, who had a RV and were eating hot dogs and burgers. We tent, and had lasagna, stew, baked biscuits and cobbler...

I love this cookbook! Each recipe is clearly labeled as a dutch oven, camp stove, fire pit or grill recipe which is exactly what my son's Boy Scout Troop needs to plan their meals accordingly for each campout because they do not always have the use of a fire ring or can bring a camp stove with them. The recipes are ones that have been tested by other Scout's and have passed the test to be included in this book. We have not made a recipe in here they we have not liked.

Wow! As my whole family are involved in Scouts this was a great book and has loads of different recipes to try out. I only bought this book last week & have tried several new recipes, which my kids loved (and they are fussy) & with a camp coming up next month, will be trying these out on the kids. The book is written in America and the ingredients are in pounds and ounces etc... but these are very easily converted to Australia and the ingredients are very easily modified to similar products. If there was an ingredient I wasn't sure of, I just googled it and found an Australian substitute. Fantastic, this book will get soooo much use. :)

I usually don't care for "outdoor" cookbooks, but this one is different. As a Scouter for many years, I have seen or cooked the standard fare. This book actually has different and good recipes that I haven't seen before. It also has many recipes for foil dinners, that I think would be fantastic for patrol cooking. Foil cooking is one of my favorites. It also has a great selection of dutch oven recipes, including entrees, dessert, and one pot meals. It also has a few ambitious meals that would be perfect for Scouts working on Cooking Merit badge. For a Scouter, I think this is a must have cookbook.

I have already made Buffalo Patrol Cobbler on page 251. It was wonderful!! If the only cobblers you have made are using a cake mix you are in for a treat. It will not look the same as a cobbler made with a cake mix. This cobbler uses corn muffin mixes. It definitely adds texture and a different flavor. It is delicious!! The recipes are categorized by breakfast, lunch, dinner, breads, snacks and desserts, and drinks. within the category they will have the method used grouped together. For instance all the dinner dutch oven recipes are grouped together. Each recipe has the servings and challenge level under the title. Then the story. Although not every recipe has that. It will give any home prep first. then the in camp prep. After that the required equipment is listed. then any tips these can be very helpful. At the side of the page is the ingredient list and any options. The introduction and the appendixes A-E are very helpful for the beginner and a good refresher for the more experienced. this is a great book. I can't wait to make another recipe. I got this for my personal use as well as for use by my AHG Troop. If you are also thinking about getting the Scout Dutch Oven Cookbook There are no repeat recipes that I can see.

Great recipes for boy and girl scouts, and any camper. I have used mine and have my favorites marked. I have since ordered 2 as gifts. I cook a lot on campouts and this is the best cook book for dutch oven cooking that I own.

This is a great book. People keep giving it to me for Christmas. We've been trying out recipes at home then getting the boys in the Troop interested. The book is really helping our Scouts get away from hot dogs and chili on outings. Bought also for my Kindle so I could have a copy on my phone and on my tablet at every meeting in case the boys need it for meal planning.

ol favorites and some new twists, very helpful for cooking for large groups.
