Henry M. Sayre is Distinguished Professor of Art History at Oregon State University-Cascades Campus in Bend, Oregon. He earned his Ph.D. in American Literature from the University of Washington. He is producer and creator of the 10-part television series, A World of Art: Works in Progress, aired on PBS in the fall of 1997; and author of seven books, including A World of Art, The Visual Text of William Carlos Williams, The Object of Performance: The American Avante-Garde since 1970; and an art history book for children, Cave Paintings to Picasso.

I currently using this for an intro to Humanities class and it is an excellent resource and easy to understand. I just might keep this one because I like the approach of the author and his balanced perspective.

I choose this rating because the book is good. What I like about the book is that it tells the stories and captures the voices that have shaped and influenced human thinking and creativity. What I dislike about the book is that it had a lot of pages to read. I would recommend this book to other people.

Discovering the Humanities is a great textbook. It makes the events, creations, and concepts of the past come alive.

as expected

Well, I don't like this product and that is because my class forced me to buy this overpriced book. I did like the speed of the shipping so there is the upside.

PERFECT!

Very dry reading. Boring. Can't force myself to read more than 2 pages at a time.

Book was fine just ended up not needed the book for class. Arrived sooner than expected!
